“THE INVESTMENT IN BERMUDA’S ELECTRIC UTILITY DEMONSTRATES OUR COMMITMENT TO GROWING OUR REGULATED BUSINESS, CAPITALIZES ON OUR STRONG NORTH AMERICAN UTILITY EXPERTISE, AND BRINGS THE BENEFITS OF OUR RENEWABLE ENERGY EXPERIENCE TO BERMUDA.”

Ian Robertson, Chief Executive Officer
Algonquin’s Commitment to Customers and Communities

• Utility operations will continue under the respected BELCO brand and the company will continue to be regulated by the Regulatory Authority of Bermuda (“the Authority” or “RA”)
• Algonquin is committed to a successful and seamless transition, under which customers will continue to receive safe, reliable and cost-effective service; Algonquin supports BELCO’s commitment to community involvement and charitable contributions

Algonquin’s Commitment to Employees

• Algonquin has strong, demonstrated alignment with Ascendant’s philosophies of safety, reliability and customer care
• No changes to management or operations staffing are expected as a result of the transaction
• Consistent with Algonquin’s operating structure, Ascendant headquarters and decision making will remain in Bermuda

Algonquin’s Commitment to the Regulator

• Algonquin is committed to supporting BELCO in maintaining its constructive regulatory relationship with the RA
• BELCO’s recently renewed license establishes BELCO as the only company licensed to transmit, distribute and bulk sell electricity in Bermuda
• The recently modernized regulatory framework employed in Bermuda establishes utility service tariffs based on regulated asset base and a weighted average cost of capital methodology – a methodology similar to that used in the U.S. and other jurisdictions familiar to Algonquin

Algonquin’s Commitment to Sustainability and Future Growth Opportunities

• Algonquin’s commitment to sustainability and leadership in renewable energy and storage development can be leveraged to help Bermuda achieve a greener and less carbon-intensive future
• Ascendant operations include a profitable unregulated energy services business that will be focused on growing the presence of renewable energy in Bermuda
• Opportunity to combine Algonquin’s core competencies of responsible utility ownership and renewable energy development for economic and environmental benefit of Bermuda
• Integration of additional low-cost renewable energy into BELCO’s supply mix is expected to contribute to lower energy costs

Algonquin’s Conservative Financing Plan

• Algonquin’s investment grade credit metrics allow for approximately U.S.$150 million leverage in the purchase of the Ascendant shares
• Algonquin’s equity investment for the transaction of U.S. $215 million expected to be accommodated within Algonquin’s current 2019 capital plan
• Currency exchange risk for Algonquin and AAGES (Algonquin’s international power and utilities development platform and ownership affiliate) mitigated through one-to-one pegging between the Bermudian and U.S. dollar
• Closing is anticipated to occur in late 2019, subject to government, regulatory and shareholder approvals
